

Since the beginning, we have simply followed the need

QuantumShyft isn't so much a thing or people, as much as it is an idea. That idea is anchored in the belief that each of us is a sovereign, powerful being, many of whom just don't know it yet. Waking up to who we really are doesn't happen overnight and it doesn't look like a scene out of the biblical heaven. Waking up from this sleeping dream of separation and helplessness requires that the pillars of the mental reality we have created for ourselves fall away.

Awaking to our sovereignty, to our true identity, often looks like a total interpersonal collapse:

- ★ We lose the job that we've endured to pay the bills.
- ★ That relationship that we've been nursing along suddenly dies.
- ★ The house, I mean THE house, the one that is absolute perfection, suddenly stops being the answer.
- ★ The car that was supposed to make us feel better lets us down.
- ★ Our emotions get out of control and our health starts to act up.

It feels like our reality is collapsing and the truth is that in many ways it is. As the construct of the old you collapses, so does the timeline in which it exists.

Because the below reflects the above and vice versa, there are times throughout history where the individual interpersonal collapse has been externalized for the collective, for humanity at large, to experience and transmute. The COVID-19 pandemic and subsequent global events are one such time. And this is where QuantumShyft began, as two empaths who just wanted to be of service in unprecedented times. We simply wanted to offer people guidance.

So, in March of 2020, we decided to read Tarot & Oracle Cards every day for free until things began to open back up. It felt like during such a time of uncertainty, we really wanted to be some solid ground for those who needed it. So, 5 days a week, we went live on Facebook and just read cards for whomever showed up.

Since the beginning, we have simply followed the need

The following developed much more quickly than expected and within a month our daily sessions were 3 hours long. We responded to the requests of our growing community by helping those who need energetic work, mentoring, journeying, alignments, healings and intuitive readings.

We offer intuitive guidance for certain and uncertain times. We value serving a community of seekers, striving to work through the challenges that life in human form provides.

We are here for you.

Love, Sarah & Sharon
Quantum Shyft
Tiny Shifts, Big Impacts

Quantum Shyft, Tiny Shifts, Big Impacts